

Subject: Request for professional development support

Hi [Manager Name],

I'm looking for a way to continue developing my skills and staying current with how teams are working in complex environments.

I've found a practitioner community through nuAgility that offers access to workshops, resources, and ongoing discussions with others working through similar challenges. It's not just content—it's a place to learn from real-world experience and apply it back into our work.

Given that we don't have a dedicated internal community for this kind of ongoing development, I believe this would be a practical way to continue growing my capabilities and bringing new ideas and approaches back to the team.

The cost for a supporting membership is [$$], and I'm confident it will help me improve how I contribute to our work and outcomes.

Would you be open to supporting this as part of my professional development?

Thanks,
